

TIGER FIJI

Join Us In Celebrating Lambda Chapter!!!

This issue of Tiger Fiji is devoted to celebration—Lambda’s 150th Anniversary, the undergraduate chapter and our graduate brothers!

This year we celebrate our 150th anniversary as a chapter of Phi Gamma Delta and part of the DePauw community. Set off 4th of July fireworks early on June 24, 2006! Join your Lambda Brothers in celebrating this once-in-a-lifetime event, September 22-24, 2006! This is a family affair, not a “stag” event for brothers only! The planning committee has made every effort to make this event affordable for everyone!

WE CELEBRATE OUR UNDERGRADUATE BROTHERS!

Lambda’s graduate brothers invariably ask questions about the chapter. Given the not-so-distant past, these questions are understandable. Yes, the scholarship is exceptionally strong, but they do lots more!

This issue includes pictures of the undergraduates having a good time at the Isle, philanthropy projects, and Pig Dinner. Of course, by attending the 150th Anniversary Celebration, you can meet the undergraduates and find out we all have “bragging rights” here!

The chapter has a lighter, humorous side, too. For example, there is a petition to acquire a house dog. Some of us remember what this is like! One undergraduate wit, Nick Vetz ’08, wrote on the petition: “Call Phil Heyde. If he barks twice, it’s okay!” Nick denies it, but it sure looks like his handwriting!

WE CELEBRATE OUR GRADUATE BROTHERS!

A special thanks to the 58 graduate brothers who donated over $11,000 in response to our request for contributions. We are very pleased with the number of donors and the amount donated. Obviously, we can put the money to good use, but the continued interest, support, and loyalty of Lambda’s graduate brothers is most important!

There are other ways to support Lambda. Forty graduate brothers participate in our Mentoring Program. Thirty-five graduate brothers are serving as “class agents” for the 150th celebration; the Board of Chapter Advisers and House Corporation are both very active. The chapter sponsors receptions during Old Gold Weekend, Pig Dinner, and alumni weekend, among other special events. Get involved, and make a difference!

Check the 150th anniversary website at www.lambda150.org. The website has the events, registration information (including online hotel reservations and event registration), class lists, and much more. Post a message on the message board. You can purchase commemorative shirts, hats, and jackets—all high quality and very reasonably priced. You should have received registration information, including hotel, in the mail, too.

For hotel reservations, you can also call 1-888-421-1442. Be sure to tell them you are attending the Phi Gamma Delta 150th celebration at the Hyatt Regency, Indianapolis to receive the discounted hotel rate of $119 a night, plus tax. A block of rooms has been reserved for the 150th, but the cut-off date for this special rate is August 28, 2006. Make hotel reservations and register early. After August 28, prevailing hotel rates apply.

The Hyatt Regency is the venue for the reception on Friday night and the gala celebration dinner on Saturday. The Beta Graduate Chapter chorus will sing Fiji songs at the reception. Kurt Mahrdr ’56 has generously donated his offices near the Hyatt for a Sunday morning brunch for attendees.

Events are scheduled for the chapter house on Saturday, September 23—including a complimentary brunch. There will be time for you to tour the campus and mix! The Distinguished Lambda Graduate Award ceremonies will also be held at the house, and President Bottoms is scheduled to speak.

Join in the festivities! It’s time to celebrate!

Paul B. Qua '82 Inducted As Distinguished Grad

Paul B. Qua '82 was named a Distinguished Lambda Graduate during a program at the Pig Dinner on April 8, 2006. The induction was attended by over 70 brothers, family members, and friends.

Paul was not only instrumental but essential to the revitalization of Lambda from 1997-2005—first as a BCA member and then as House Corporation president for five years. During this period, Paul took on so much responsibility—raising funds, enlisting graduate brother support, leading the House Corporation, advising the chapter, and dealing with a multitude of other issues. He spent countless hours performing the Herculean tasks this period in Lambda's history required, when some were prepared to close the doors.

Paul did so out of loyalty, dedication, and his passion for Phi Gamma Delta and the Lambda Chapter. Lambda celebrates its 150th anniversary this year as a result of Paul Qua's leadership and his resolve—"I was damned if our chapter would close after nearly 150 years."

In many ways, Paul's commitment to Lambda's revitalization reflects the same zeal of our original six founders—particularly Luther C. Slavens 1858—who were also named Distinguished Lambda Graduates on April 8, 2006.

The original six founders faced their own challenges. Lambda was chartered June 24, 1856, but five of the six original founders left the university after a "student rebellion" in the fall of 1856.

This rebellion was the result of an administration and faculty decree that literary societies must meet on Friday afternoons and not on Friday nights because of too much "revelry." (Some things apparently haven't changed in 150 years!)

Luther C. Slavens returned to Indiana Asbury after the "student rebellion" and reorganized Lambda.

The Alpha Chapter acknowledged the reorganization in 1857. Lambda remains the chapter in longest continuous existence in Phi Gamma Delta because of Luther C. Slavens in 1857 and Paul B. Qua in 2000.

Paul remains an active member of the House Corporation and continues to be a source of sound advice for the House Corporation and the chapter.

A Look At Life In The Lambda Chapter

Pictures say more than words, although a few words are necessary: The undergraduate chapter is a stellar group of intelligent, dedicated, focused and multi-talented young men. They also enjoy a good time, but read on.

Attend the 150th Anniversary Celebration, September 22-24, 2006, and meet the undergraduate chapter. You will be impressed with the quality of the undergraduate brothers.

SCHOLARSHIP

During the first semester, the chapter finished first among fraternities on campus in scholarship with a 3.4117 GPA. They were just a tad behind a sorority for first among all Greek houses! They received a $1,000 scholarship award from the university, which is being used for the Lortz Library. The chapter's goal is to repeat this scholarship performance with a higher cumulative GPA.

With a pledge class (now initiated) that posted a 3.79 cumulative GPA first semester, a repeat performance is more than achievable. Go for it!

GREEK AWARDS— ANOTHER GREAT YEAR!

Once again, the undergraduates demonstrated excellence by earning five Greek Affairs Awards. The chapter received the most chapter awards among fraternities and the most overall chapter awards. They finished second behind Alpha Chi Omega for overall awards, because the chapter did not pursue individual awards. Next year, individual awards will be included.

The awards received this year are: Outstanding Educational/Alcohol Programming; Outstanding Achievement in Community Service; Outstanding Alumni Programming; Outstanding House Director to Marla Minor; and Outstanding Chapter President to Kevin Kaiser.

PHILANTHROPY

Lambda raised $3,272 for various charities this year, including the American Red Cross, the Putnam County Humane Society, Relay for Life, and Dance Marathon.

The Pumpkin Bash in the fall and the "Bark-B-Q" for the Humane Society this spring were big hits. In addition, each undergraduate brother performs at least 15 hours of community or social service each month. Many exceed this minimum.

James Patton '08, Camron Parker '09 and Darien Burton '09 take donations at the "Bark-B-Que" to benefit the Humane Society.

Paul Taylor '09 and Ryan May '08 make their way around the track at Relay for Life.

Brothers and their guests enjoy grilled food at the Fiji "Bark-B-Q."

SOCIAL LIFE

Hey, what's college and fraternity life without a social element? Well, the undergraduates have a very active social life, including a fall formal, a spring formal, and Fiji Isle!

Yes, there is a "bone run" for the Isle, but its more of a "bone walk." The brothers walk to each dates living unit, greet the date, deliver the bone with the date's name on it, and then walk to the next living unit. The drums, conch shell, and didgeridoo let everyone know the Fijis are on the way and the Isle is underway!

Ross Hallren '09 and Shari Quan enjoy a romp in the Isle pool.

Steve Topper '06 translates a farewell message from Isle Chief Andrew Burden '09 at the end of the Isle.

PIG DINNER

Once again, the chapter hosted an outstanding and entertaining Pig Dinner on April 8, 2006! Andrew Turner '06 served as Pig Dinner chair. Ninety-plus people attended the event, which included the Distinguished Lambda Graduate inductions of Paul B. Qua '82 and the original six founders of Lambda—William H. Abney 1858, Luther C. Slavens 1858, Harvey Cheek 1857, Hiram W. Cloud 1857, Jesse S. Gathright 1858, and John Slavens 1858.

Benjamin Robinson, executive director of the Phi Gamma Delta Educational Foundation, gave an excellent keynote address on brotherhood—including humorous anecdotes and examples of where brothers helped each other, even when they were on opposite sides of a Civil War battle! He also spoke about the support and assistance brothers give to other brothers today.

It was a superb reminder of what “brotherhood” really means and that Phi Gamma Delta “is not for college days alone!”

Max Tudor '59 entertains the brothers with memories of Lambda upon receiving his Golden Owl Award for 50 years as a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

MEMORIAL TO BROTHER INSTALLED IN KENTUCKY FOREST

In August, 2005, the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources renamed a portion of Robinson Forest in memory of Paul C. Van Booven '73. A large bronze memorial plaque was put in place to honor Brother Van Booven, who died of cancer in 2004. The dedication ceremony took place at a scenic spot Paul especially enjoyed for observing elk and other wildlife.

Paul was instrumental in formulating the cooperative land management agreement that was pivotal to reintroducing elk to eastern Kentucky. He saw the need for a reclamation model, implementing innovative post-mining land uses and actively promoting partnerships with federal, state, and private parties.

UK President Lee T. Todd Jr. stated, "I cannot think of a more appropriate place in Kentucky to bear Paul Van Booven's name. Robinson Forest would not be the place it is today without Paul's diligence and dedication. His contributions are on display every day in eastern Kentucky—and the commonwealth is a better place because of it."

After graduating from DePauw with academic honors, Paul entered the University of Kentucky Law School. Upon completion of his law degree and admission to the Kentucky Bar, he served as assistant dean of the UK Law School and subsequently became associate dean. At the time of his death, Paul was chief legal counsel for the University of Kentucky.

As a member of Lambda, Paul served as chapter treasurer and house manager. His tool belt always seemed to be around his waist, and he was ready to repair something! From his college days until his death, Paul frequently visited with his pledge brothers and contemporaries in the chapter. He visited Lambda on numerous occasions. His last visit was alumni weekend in 2004, when he joined others in celebrating lifelong friendships formed as an undergraduate.
